

BAY ST. LOUIS MISSISSIPPI. THURSDAY. AUGUST 5, 1965

of Universal's best #44, which included sand blasting was $4,995.00 and an alternative, including only wire brush cleaning of rust spots, was $3,095.00. A bid by G. L. Lehnert and O. L. Gosswein, Waukegan, did not include a bid bond and was for painting only at $2,480, while Central Painting Co., Jackson, could furnish no bond for their sand blasting or wire brush alternative.

After spending the past hour or so vacantly staring at an apparently bottomless stack of notes amassed while we were theoretically vacationing, we've come to the conclusion that we will get back on the ball a few days ahead of time and try to get caught up, or find out what the hourly pay scale for dirt spreaders at M.T.F. is at present. The latter doesn't sound too appealing as we'd be much too busy tossing around real mud to find out what the latest local 'dirt' happens to be!

First, most appropriately, I suppose a report on vacation activities is expected. . . well, to be perfectly honest, points of interest we visited are a bit too familiar to our readers to merit more than passing mention. . . most of our time was spent in that happy little resort city, named Waveland. . . we did however venture as far as Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore, with a trip or two to the Bay, a dash to Hattiesburg and a whole day on the water somewhere near Grand Pass, we guess, but it was fun, while it lasted. . . now back to (ugh) work!

One of the gayer occasions was a Sunday picnic at Rita Cue's lovely pool. Among those enjoying turkey, ham, barbecue, potato salad, deviled eggs. . . in fact just about any food one could mention, were: Jean and Noel (Lt. Col. U.S. Army) Cipriano and family of New Orleans, Gerri and Sam Blanchard, Carmen and Cliff Piazza, Marie and Arnold Wolfe, Lucien Gex, (wife Nancy, and children, Beau, Leslie and Laurie, were vacationing in Chattanooga, Tenn. with her mother, Grace (Mrs. Sid) Gould, Myrtis and Roy DeHaan, Shirley and Roland LaFontaine, Ellen and Ludger Moran, Ruth and Matt Ballatin and Jane and Bobby Benvenuti.

We bid you welcome

While on the subject of newcomers we want to welcome Patricia and Lewis Dunlap to our midst. Pat is Marie and Hap Carter's daughter and the Dunlaps, who came here from Mobile, Ala., are both working at Hancock General Hospital. They have purchased a home in Waveland.

Malvin and Bert Ladner and Malvin's father-in-law, Mr. August Moran, of Ansel, got quite a large charge out of their weekend train trip to Houston where they watched the home team play in the Astrodome.

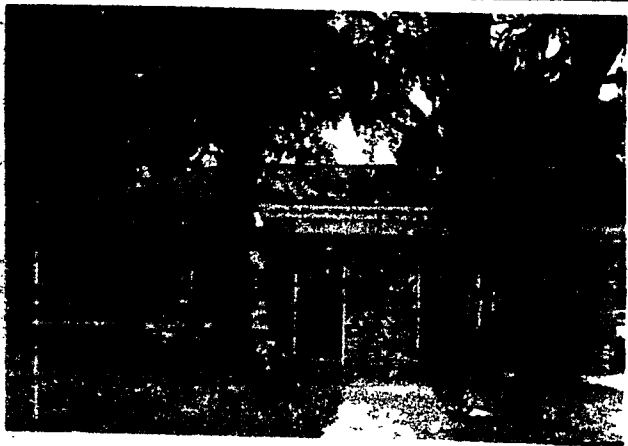

Fishing news

Probably no one will believe this tale, but Mary Alice and Joe Benvenuti's deep freeze holds the proof of one of the most successful fishing trips of which we can, or probably ever will be able to boast. As a vacation treat like Lang took the Benvenutis, wife Leah, your fishing friend reporter and less enthusiastic spouse and New Orleans weekenders Vera and George Huffman out (and we aren't saying where) last Tuesday on the Margaret C. Despite two squalls, a downpour, and swift tide, we returned with roughly 400 sizeable trout. It was just out of this world. . . they were biting almost faster than we could bait hooks and just to prove a point, the not too eager better (?) half, caught two nice ones using a bit of Scott (the commercial is free), paper towel as bait, although more prosaic members of the crew stuck to shrimp, squid and cut bait.

Old Timers whack youngsters

It is with much glee that we report the Old Timers trounced the younger set, meaning Travis Lounge softball team, 13-6, in their journey on Sunday, July 18. Such talent as Tut Monti, Billy Soldine, Charlie Carver, Boo Noto, Malvin Ladner and Fostie Favre proved that youth is great, but who needs it. . . after a certain age, that is. An interesting side note is the only sad note of the day was the loss of Charlie Carver's wedding ring. . . Just it was found by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crudden's little boy. . . Mrs. Crudden called us, even before Charlie had reported it missing. . . so before he could finish rolling of his loss, we were giving him the Crudden's phone number.

Doris (Mrs. Calvin) Hirsch entertained at a lovely luncheon for her daughter-in-law, Gloria (Mrs. Ronald) Hirsch, of Los Angeles, Cal., visiting the Hirschs at their Grosvenor Place home, with son Steven, for a week. Enjoying gourmet dishes last Wednesday were Peggy (Mrs. Floyd) Hepting, Elvora (Mrs. Bob) Whitson, Nell (Mrs. Bill) Frisbee and once again, your by now somewhat weary, writer. All missed Irene (Mrs. Florence) Pansy who stayed at home to care for daughter Kimberly who was under the weather. (Cont. on Page 6.)

Long, hard look

Hancock County Board of Supervisors had one of its longer sessions this week. In addition to routine business it had bids on construction of a new wing at the hospital to go over, state-aid road problems and two politically hot questions: construction of a new courthouse and additional pay for teachers in the county school system.

In July the board unexpectedly and suddenly announced it would advertise its intention to issue $1,300,000 in bonds for construction of a new courthouse. Using this procedure, unless petitioned in time by more than 20 per cent of the electorate calling for an election, the board could legally go ahead.

When their August session began Monday the board was confronted by a delegation, mostly from businesses in the present courthouse area, wanting more information, more this and more that and not at all pleased at the prospect of paying taxes, estimated at two to two and one half mills a year, for the dubious honor of moving an asset away.

They were followed by the county school board asking for a three mill increase for the school system to be used largely for increased pay for teachers. Without an election this is the maximum that can be levied. With 1965-66 operations scheduled to open in less than two weeks the system is still short several teachers. Since the Hancock County system pays less than most of the competitive systems in the area, pay differential is considered a major factor in getting good teachers for its schools.

The timing of the supervisors' agenda of the courthouse and school system problems, taken with the nearly equal amounts needed for financing, made the supervisors' problem appear to be merely the simple question of which improvement would get the taxes. At least one member openly commented he could support one but not both because he thought a six mill increase was too much.

In any event the supervisors on Tuesday voted 3 to 2 to levy the millage for the schools and decided on a 4 to 1 vote to withdraw advertising their intention to issue the $1,300,000 in bonds for courthouse construction.

With these matters temporarily taken care of, it seems about as good a time as any for the supervisors to take a long look at financing problems sure to arise in the near future. The two problems they have just disposed of, school millage and courthouse, are sure to be around again. But we hope they don't bring forth full blown million dollar bond intentions without first selling the public on the need and the appropriateness of their solution.

BIG CHANGES - While Bay-Waveland area throbs with rumor of construction, rockets, movies and bond issues, some people believe in facing facts squarely and with a clean expression. One attorney, Edward L. Jones, after 11 barberless years, made a decision and Oren Cuevas made hay with razor and scissors.

A Conservative View By James J. Kilpatrick

Lyndon called it the "Mount Everest of this session" when the house approved his voting rights bill while the senate was agreeing to Medicare, but other observers would plot that particular Friday somewhat lower on a topographical scale.

Both bills suffer from a common fault, that they do violence to the constitution, but at least there were some precedents for the uncharted extensions of the Medicare program. In theory, one assumes, the Medicare bill is based upon the general welfare clause: it is a theory that makes hash of the founding fathers' clear intention to limit Congress to certain enumerated powers, but the past 35-years of social legislation have applied such a gloss to the house of our fathers that the original timbers no longer can be seen.

No such precedents can be cited to explain or to excuse the voting rights bill. In a dozen different ways, the bill provisions of this regrettable bill simply trample roughshod across the letter and the spirit of the constitution. Countless Southerners will agree with everything that Louisiana's Hale Boggs said in his stirring speech of July 9: Yes, some Southern States and localities deliberately have discriminated against qualified Negro voters. This discrimination cannot possibly be condoned; it must be stopped.

Yet to accept that proposition is by no means to accept the Draconian remedy devised by the congress to treat the malady. As that famous prophet, Lyndon Isaiah Johnson, is so fond of saying, come, let us reason together.

From the very beginning of the Republic, the power of the states to fix the qualifications of voting never has been disputed. The only change in this power, resulting from the 14th, 15th and 19th amendments, is that the states must not discriminate in enforcing their franchise laws. And the congress may enact "appropriate legislation" to keep them from doing this.

Thus, in the particular field of literacy tests, there could have been no constitutional objection to a federal statute prohibiting the use of literacy tests as a device to discriminate against Negroes. This would have been, by definition, "appropriate legislation." But that is not what this bill does. It singles out those states and counties, having literacy tests, in which fewer than 50 per cent of the adults were registered or voted last November: it leaps to the conclusion that these statistics were the consequence of discriminatory literacy tests; and it thus triggers the whole punitive machinery provided by the law.

Now, there is no question that in some of these Southern States, literacy tests have been so applied, there is equally no question that in other affected areas, notably Virginia and South Carolina, literacy tests have not been abused in any way. The new law makes no distinction. This is wonderland law, sentence first and verdict second, by which the localities are presumed guilty until proved innocent.

On another point: It is a familiar practice in American jurisprudence for a court to issue an order, after a hearing, enjoining the enforcement of some unconstitutional state law or local ordinance. Well and good. But never before in the nation's history has the congress undertaken simply to suspend a large body of state and local law without hearing of any sort. Yet that is what this voting rights act does by vesting unprecedented powers of extra judicial review in the U.S. Attorney General.

It is an elementary rule of our constitutional system that laws must be uniform in their application; but in North Carolina, under this new enactment, one set of rules will apply in County A and another set of rules will apply in adjoining County B. And this will not be because County A discriminates and County B does not, but rather because of the "numbers game." County A voted 49 per cent and County B voted 51 per cent. Such are the peaks of reason and statesmanship surmounted on Mr. Johnson's Mount Everest of an afternoon.

From a purely practical standpoint, it is perhaps an error to fret too much about the Voting Rights Act of 1965. By its own terms, a law that is keyed to the presidential balloting of 1964 will be outdated by the presidential balloting of 1968. The census of 1970 will further confuse the trigger provisions. And in any event, Negroes now are registering in such unfettered droves, all across the South, that the need for any federal legislation, except in the most isolated instances, soon will be open to doubt.

The questions of principle remain valid. Either we protect the old doctrines of federalism and strict construction from the corruptions of men obsessed with "doing good," or we lose these ancient bulwarks altogether. We lost something in the congress on July 9, when well-meaning men climbed over the constitution to reach forbidden valleys on the other side.

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

With the close of congress this year, President Johnson believes he will have fulfilled his promise to push through the late President Kennedy's program.

He is now getting ready to introduce his own program for next year, has asked aides and experts to suggest new ideas for building the great society. He will not be content merely with extending and expanding present programs, but wants to find new ways to help the poor and provide a better life for everyone.

He is convinced that only government action can solve the nation's domestic problems, is counting on prosperity to bring in enough new tax revenue each year to finance these programs without increasing the national debt.

FBI Boss in zoning hassle

J. Edgar Hoover, who usually devotes his energies to running the FBI and making speeches, has not himself involved in a zoning squabble a long way from home. He has written a letter to the mayor of La Jolla, Calif., opposing the building of high-rise apartments in that area.

His interest is not as strange as it might seem: Hoover is a regular visitor at La Jolla, for the entire period of the racing season at the Del Mar track.

He has good company in his protest—Mrs. Lyndon Johnson also wrote to the mayor of La Jolla opposing high-rise apartments along the coastal area.

Dams and friendship

Abe Fortas, whom LBJ finally persuaded to become a Justice of the Supreme Court, first met the President about thirty years ago when Fortas was working in the Interior Department on public power.

A lucky young Texan had come up to Washington to see Secretary of the Interior Ickes to urge a network of dams for Texas. Ickes was too busy to see him, sent him to Abe Fortas instead.

Johnson got his dams. He also began a long personal friendship, climaxed by Fortas's appointment to the highest court.

Moscow vs. Peking

Most important conference State Department officials were watching last month was the big communist meeting in Bucharest, where the Russians made several attempts to patch things up with the Chinese.

Leonid Brezhnev, head of the Soviet Communist party, appealed to the Chinese to bury the hatchet and unite against American imperialist aggression. However, the Chinese delegate remained cool.

State Department officials were watching to see whether the Chinese and the Russians got together in some smoke-filled room to patch up their differences.

However, at the end of the Bucharest conference, Brezhnev and Chinese delegate Teng sat in silence at the head table without exchanging one word or one handshake.

This is one reason why the Johnson Administration is reasonably confident that the Russians will not intervene in the Vietnamese war against the United States. They could not be sure of Red China.

Malenkov returns

Georgi Malenkov, who succeeded Stalin as Soviet Premier, then was ousted by Khrushchev, may soon make a comeback. When Khrushchev became Mr. Big in the Kremlin, Malenkov was relegated to management of a hydroelectric station in Kazakhstan. Now, however, he's back in Moscow, has the support of Mikhail Suslov, the anti-American, anti-Khrushchev leader, and may get back some of his former power. Brezhnev, however, is opposing him.

Beating in Tibet

The public beating of Tibet's spiritual leader, the Panchen Lama, for refusing to take orders from the Chinese, has touched off a new widespread revolt in the high Himalayas. Mountain tribesmen have now been joined by Buddhist monks, farmers and other Tibetan patriots who want to fight against the Chinese occupation troops. Food and arms have been paraded to the rebels by Chinese Nationalist planes.

Decadent dancer dances

The twist, and other allegedly decadent western dances, have been outlawed in Indonesia. Indonesian go-go girls have been warned to stop-stop. President Sukarno has benevolently introduced his own special step, a slow and sedate folk dance which he calls the "Ismo."

However, Indonesia's hepcats are reported meeting in secret for booting dancing. They risk a year in jail if they are caught dancing Western style. But for addicts, the twist apparently is worth the risk.

Auto ailments

Senator Ribicoff of Connecticut is pushing his investigation of the big auto companies, which he suspects have put luxury and horse-power ahead of safety.

His investigators are checking charges that some early 1965 Chryslers, Dodges and Plymouth autos were sold with defective steering mechanisms. The company tipped off dealers to the defect, but did not track down purchasers and notify them that they had received defective cars.

No lady astronauts

The ladies are still trying to break into the astronaut program. The latest applications have come from women who want to be scientist-astronauts. The job of sifting all applicants has been turned over to the National Academy of Science—which has quietly eliminated all the women.

Actor in politics

California's moderate Republican, Sen. Tom Kuchel, will fly home next week for showdown talks with his supporters who want him to challenge right-wing actor Ronald Reagan for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Kuchel is reluctant to leave the Senate, where he has become leader of the moderate Republicans. However, he is determined not to let the Republican party in California be taken over by right-wingers.

What he hopes to do is to reach an understanding with Reagan. He will ask Reagan to hold to the middle of the road and, if elected, to appoint moderates to key posts. The ambitious Reagan will agree, then Kuchel will stay out of the primary and support Reagan for Governor.

Big bash

Jeanne and Fred Lister tossed one of the largest parties held locally in years last Saturday. Sort of a triple celebration was observed as July 31, was the Lister's 25th wedding anniversary, their brand new Bayou home was housewarming and it was also Jeanne's birthday. The two story house can by no stretch of the imagination be referred to as a summer home. . . decor, furnishings, etc. being much too elaborate. . . it's truly right from House Beautiful, or a similar magazine. Fred's anniversary gift to Jeanne was mink. . . we don't know how to describe the double neckpiece, but it's gorgeous. Food and drink were flowing. . . boiled shrimp with Louise Wymer's famous remoulade sauce, Jeanne's gumbo, turkey, barbecued chicken, ham, potato salad, Fred's baked beans, in fact, you name it. . . and it was available. We won't even try to straighten out relationships as we think all of the Wymer clan was present, but get a little confused with married names and four of Louise's six sisters were there. Frances, Jeanne, and Fred's daughter and husband Noel, and brothers Freddie and Larry, were in evidence and about one-fourth of the guest list follows Louise and the 'birthday boy' Joe Wymer, Jacqueline and Robert Lister and Jacob Harsinger of Baton Rouge with Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Marcheseaux of Ex-en Province, France; Jane Bill and Virgie Manning, Josie, Ava Marie, Linda and Eddie Camenita, Gerrie Kaufmann, Ruth and Bert Mitzeer, Dennis and Margaret Mitzeer, Charlotte Laverde, Jimmie and Charles Kucera, Betty and Billy Jones, Ann and Nick Carbajal, Aurille and Joe Griffin, June and Norman McCord, Margie and Vic Choppin, Doty and Louis Gracianette, Dorothy and Eddie Griffin, Rhelda and Gerald Price, Jr., and Bea and Joe Daniels, and by the way, Joe made a get well wish as he most unfortunately ate a peanut at the party and was muchly under the weather on Sunday. In all fairness to Joe, we must mention the fact that he took a boateride and by some miracle, no disaster occurred! Both Bea and Joe are due congratulations having observed their 40th wedding anniversary on Friday, July 30.

Earl Smith, that travelling gentleman who has most recently been to Morocco where he had all sorts of problems crossing language barriers, etc. (Cont. on Page 7.)

Fast action marks softball play-offs

Benefit tourney set for Sunday

St. Stanislaus Stadium will be the scene of an all-softball tourney and shoot-out on Sunday for the benefit of Gnu Maurigi, who has been seriously ill for the past several years.

Pearlington Barber Shop will open the action at 9 a.m. against CYO and Trapani's Knock-Knock will come on one hour later via with Long Beach. Southern Realty, after drawing a bye, will meet the winner of the first contest at 11 a.m.

At noon, the lounges tangle as Travis' encounters Chateau and at 1 p.m. the Corps of Engineers (MTF), a new squad make their first appearance in a battle with Jerry and Mary's of Lakeshore.

Knock-Knock 20-5 in Men's Bay Softball City Championship play-offs Monday night.

The Chateau campaign consisted of fielding their entire batting order in two innings and hickory and horsehide sounded to the tune of 22 base hits. Swinging the hottest stick for Chateau was Stackey Strong, with four singles for five trips to the plate.

In the first contest of the night Southern Realty gained ground in the biggest real estate purchase of the season by breaking the Catholic Youth Organizations' jinx with 9-6 margin.

CYO opened the ball game with one run in the first frame, as Mike Lee slid in head over heels on Donnie Saucier's single. The young Catholics scored another run in the second when Sam Alliston lined a double off the right field fence. The bottom fell out of the CYO's two run lead in the bottom half of the second when SR came up with three runs on four base wraps. A fired-up Realty squad held CYO scoreless for the next frame and came back in the following inning to score two more runs and go ahead 6-2. SR came on in the fifth to add three and tallied as Cliff Vogt and James Ginn singled. With two base-runners on J.T. Ladner whacked a long ball that, at first glance appeared to go over the fence. Center fielder Johnny Penton knew differently however and his fast fielding of the rebound nearly caught Ginn out at home plate and held Ladner at third.

Cost increases may curtail expansion

The 12-bed addition, which had been deleted from original hospital expansion plans for lack of funds, had been estimated at $83,220, including contingencies, architects' fees and other routine items. The Hill-Burton Act was providing $55,480 and the residue in the local hospital fund ran about $27,000.

City water

improvements, the mayor reported.

He emphasized that these changes are not in any way affecting the scope of the projects. Some revisions have been made in engineering of the oxidation pond and materials are being changed in other work, Scalfie explained.

Work orders are to be issued today for Carless Well Works to proceed with its job also.

George Consolidated has had a crew in for sometime making test borings and checking sites for the water lines, the mayor reported. Material and equipment should be in in about 10 days, he estimated.

very the situation until formally retained.

The Beat 1 supervisor wanted to know why Ramond hadn't opposed bonds for the hospital addition, declaring the Courthouse was for the rural people whereas those from outlying sections go to the hospitals in Piquette and Sildell and got no benefit from the Dunbar Avenue plant, Ramond replied he had worked toward the new hospital from its earliest days and did not oppose any bond issue so long as the public was fully informed.

Dean suggested Bay St. Louis might be able to work out lease agreement for the present Courthouse since it needs more space. Several sites are under consideration for the new building, he continued, adding he would like to see it located on U.S. 90.

Kargosen inquired if the board had any idea of the price of U.S. 90 property and Dean replied that was included in Perez' cost estimates.

Supervisors informally discussed possibility of adding a room to the present facility after their vote Tuesday noon. That has been considered from time to time for several years as grand juries continually recommend some relief for the existing quarters.

School tax

and was not trying to put the blame on supervisors.

Dean occupied the bulk of Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning's discussion of the school request. He said he had gotten information on school spending from Jackson, reiterated his concern that the Logtown School might be closed before the new Pearl-Lington building is finished and argued that the increased assessment should provide all the money needed without any millage hike. The Beat 1 supervisor repeatedly asked "to sit down and go over where the figures... and show where you need the money."

The school delegation contended it was making all the information available and the matter had been under consideration for six weeks. Trustee Eric Larsen suggested the whole school board would have to be checked before making any agreement "to talk it over again."

Dean retorted that the trustees couldn't be very interested in getting the raise if they were unwilling to discuss it further. He proceeded to inspect the faculty roster and proposed pay increases, causing Hubbard to observe the supervisors were entering school finances too much.

Kellar declared he opposed the request as a result of his own experience in 12 years on the school board and changes in personnel resulting from every change in administration. He recalled one school man at North Central had been dismissed because he raised the price of coke from 5 to 10 cents and the coach of the 1960 state champion basketball team had seen his assistant raised $400 more than himself.

When the discussion resumed Tuesday Dean suggested that more auto license sales would increase revenue and proposed the assessments be raised instead. He also sought reduction in marshland acreage assessments.

Hubbard and Tax Assessor George Heitzmann advised that any changes in the assessment rolls this year would have to be made by the board of supervisors since they have already been presented. Raising real property assessments would penalize the general public since public utilities are valued by the state on a fixed basis, Hubbard argued. "That means United Gas, Mississippi Power and the rest would be exempt from helping the schools," he remarked. "It would leave a $3 million assessment to raise six mills."

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., asked Dean to let him know about any local automobiles not properly tagged. He said the state motor vehicle division had written him June 17 of a reciprocal agreement with NASA over 91 men temporary transferred to Mississippi Test Facility from Huntsville, and that its inspectors were no longer checking contractor equipment at the test site for proper licensing. The exempt persons all have letters showing their status, the sheriff explained.

The board then directed its attorney to get a ruling from the attorney general's office on the legality of this exemption which apparently applies also to Louisianans working at the test site.

Dean next challenged Hubbard's support of the millage hike this time, recalling he had declined to go along in previous years on the ground a budget was not submitted. Dean contended that figures presented by the schools this year could not be called a budget.

City police get mixed bag

Dale Finnegan, absent without leave from U.S. Army was apprehended by Police Chief Lathan Garriga at Industrial Enameling Plant where he was employed, on Friday, July 30, Finnegan was held in Hancock County Jail until returned to Fort Polk, La. by military policemen.

Two juveniles were arrested Monday by officers Billy Carbone, Julius Webb and Eric Necaise and charged with shooting out street lights. Upon questioning the following day they at first denied taking stop signs and street markers, but spent the remainder of the day returning a number of such signs to the police station.

Hearing will be in Mayor's court for Joseph Lasso of Bjjod, charged with following too close, after his 1964 Oldsmobile struck a 1964 truck and trailer and stopped for the light at Beach Blvd. and U.S. 90 shortly before noon Wednesday. Lasso's automobile was damaged to the extent of approximately $200. The truck was undamaged.

The case, originally scheduled to be heard by Beat 1 JP Lester Hoyer July 5, after complaints were made on June 11, brought about a secret session in a meeting of the board of supervisors the following Monday.

RUSSELL ELLIOTT EXPRESSES HIS OBJECTIONS TO THE METHOD OF THE BOND ISSUE

A NEW COURT HOUSE.

BOND ISSUES BY ELECTION ONLY!

The issuance of bonds, causing an increase of taxes, should at all times be at the discretion of the taxpayers!

Under Legal Notices in the Sea Coast Echo Newspaper issue of July 29, 1965 the following is in effect of a resolution by the Board of Supervisors:

"Resolution declaring the intention of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, to issue Bonds of said County in the principal amount of ONE MILLION, THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($1,300,000.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary, to raise money for the purpose of paying the cost of erecting and equipping a courthouse for said County and purchasing land therefor within Supervisor's District No. 5 of said County, and directing publication of notice of such intention."

There are numerous needs in our County, but there is no need of any BOND ISSUE, with increased taxes, without a thorough understanding of the proposal by the people and then, and only then, with an opportunity by the citizens to vote their approval or disapproval. The BOARD OF SUPERVISORS will not be retiring the bonds alone, but every tax payer in Hancock County will!

Several weeks ago the Board of Supervisors voted to spend $1,300,000.00 tax dollars to build a new Court House. Since that time, at the Tuesday morning meeting, August 3, 1965, with pressure from taxpayers, the Board of Supervisors has temporarily postponed any further action towards this program. Originally it was not their intent to call an election on so vital and tremendous a Bond Issue, which is within their jurisdiction. However this method is not fair to the unsuspecting people.

Under the Board of Supervisors' proposal, citizens would have to circulate petitions and secure at least 20% of the qualified voters' signatures protesting this type of issuance of Bonds to force an election.

"CITIZENS SHOULD NOT HAVE TO BE COMPELLED TO FORCE AN ELECTION TO REJECT THE ACTIONS OF THEIR REPRESENTATIVES ON THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS!!

I AM DEFINITELY FOR PROGRESS, under proper planning and programming, but I AM AGAINST BOND

As an ex-candidate and a future candidate for the Board of Supervisors, Beat 5, Hancock County, I feel that it is my duty to publicly express my opinion in this matter.
